I know that snow has been a rare sight here but, throwing snowballs on school grounds is illegal and punishable by DEATH, or something like it. So if you don't want to spend your time sitting in the office from now until the snow goes in Spring STOP! I've instructed the teachers to bring all snowballers to the office . . . In other words cut it out!

"Stage 40" began in 1975. The year Mill River opened, as an outlet for work in all phases of theatre arts. Its purpose is to give high school students an experience in the professional approach to the performing arts. When the company was formed, after a series of workshops, in the fall of 1975, it elected its first Board of Directors and planned the first season. It was decided that the first production would be a low budget musical, You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown. Students began a series of bake sales and car washes to earn the $600.00 royalty fee. The production, done with almost no set and little lighting was a success and earned the company just enough money so that the production costs of a one-act play could be met and we could make our first appearance in competition. American Primitive was rated well. In the spring two more low budget one-acts, Nest and The Loveliest Afternoon of the Year were produced. At the year's end "Stage 40" entered a grant request to attempt to build a lighting system in order to train students in the art of theatre lighting. The grant was awarded as part of the "Arts in the Curriculum." We also established the "Stage 40" Achievement Awards to honor outstanding theatre contributions.

The Board of Directors adopted a point system for members of the company and established the positions of apprentice and player.

In the fall of 1976, the company decided to take a risk and to produce a show which would require elaborate staging and design work. Finally the company would be able to involve large numbers of students in a production. The financial risk was high and the company realized that with poor audience attendance "Stage 40" would fold. Godspell was selected and production costs of over $2,500.00 were known to be the risk. The new lighting system arrived and Godspell went into production. The company proved its strength and met its production costs. The show won artistic acclaim and as a result the company was asked to produce a children's play as "Arts in Residence" for Crossroads Arts Council. The Wind in the Willows went into immediate production, and in February, played to 2,000 area young people. We were now financially fairly solvent. The spring saw the company enter the state one-act play competition again. The entry, The Farmer's Daughter . . . , received a high rating. The year concluded with two one-acts, Balcony Scene and The Fisherman, and a banquet and awards. The first Board of Directors Award for Contribution to High School Theatre was presented to the Rutland Herald.

Sponsoring an assembly series and combining with Pop Rock to do an original review. A Broadway Cabaret, opened the 17-78 season. Cabaret took us to local high schools as well as to the Hartford, Conn. Civic Center. Invitations to perform arrived from all over the northeast. In November Cabaret closed and our second major musical with a budget risk of over $3,000 was cast The Me Nobody Knows received outstanding reviews and involved the work of six student designers. The one-act play entry, Adaptation, won district, Southern Vermont, Vermont State, and highest New England Drama Festival ratings, and all four members of its cast were awarded All-New England recognition.

The children's play, . . . Fenda Maria, was a major technical show and played again to 2,000 area young people.

The company went into its fourth year as an established theatre group. The opening production was The Crucible which played to 2,000 high school students bused in for day performances. Kids, a Revue and three student directed scenes were presented in December. The spring term saw the company host the New England Drama Festival with Castleton College as well as seeing our production of The Trial of the Catonsville Nine winning district, Southern Vermont, Vermont State and New England honors. Three of its cast members were selected to All-New England Cast. The production was honored with Best Technical Achievement in New England for its set design. The company closed the year with a comic piece, Revue Unique. "Stage 40" is listed by the American Theatre Association as a producing theatre agent for children's theatre.

"Stage 40" went into its fifth season with its annual fall production. This year it was Thornton Wilder's Our Town, more than half the company took part in this production. December and January were taken up with the company's children's theatre production of The Prince Who Wouldn't Talk. The spring of the year brings "Stage 40" into its One-Act Play Run. This year's production will be Spoon River Anthology. To close its season this year the company will produce three student directed scenes. Scott Jones, Eric Hansen and Tina Barrows will be this year's student directors. Stage 40 in five years has achieved local, state, and national acclaim as a professional, high standard youth theatre rivaling the best in the nation.

M.R.U. Awarded Mayor's Trophy

Over 200 students, under the supervision of Mrs. Candish and Mr. Maurer, participated in the preparation for, and marching in, the annual Halloween parade in Rutland. The group providing an excellent showing, was rated best over all and awarded the Mayor's Trophy.

Students Travel Back in Time

The American Studies Class, Mr. Harlow, Mr. Probst, and three student guests took the traditional field trips to Old Sturbridge Village and Plymouth Plantation. At Plymouth the group got into the spirit of things by getting to know the guides who portrayed actual, known residents of the colony in 1627. The group also tried their hands at the dances of the time period and even rolling around the village in a barrel hoop!
